

Price List For Parasite Control.

This list is provided for price information only. Recent legislation requires that a vet examine each pet at least once every 12 months before recommending appropriate treatments. If any treatment changes are needed, your pet will need to be re-examined by a vet. This appointment is free of charge when it relates solely to parasite control.

We aim to provide effective parasite control though also looking to reduce the number of treatments required. Please discuss with us the best treatment interval for your pets parasite control and consider worm egg testing rather than blanket worm treatment.
